Daniel Series, Five: The Form Thereof Was Terrible

Such a deficit of light, such an onslaught of deception, that one must trust the gauges and the gauges alone.
Digital gauges must be discarded, and a return to analogue. When all else faileth trust The Word of God.

“But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living, but for their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thy heart. Thou, O king, sawest, and behold a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible.” -Daniel 2:30-31

The image that Nebuchadnezzar beheld was an image, a statue that inflicted great horror upon the king. It was more than physical sight, the meaning of the dream penetrated the iron shell of the man till he would tremble.
The form thereof was terrible. Not only was the sight a horror, the one who directed the dream is a terrible God.
“It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the Living God.”

*“Thou, O king, sawest, and behold a great image.
This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible.
This image’s head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass, His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay.
Thou sawest till that a stone was cut out without* *hands, which smote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces. Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of the summer threshingfloors; and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth. This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.”

-Daniel 2:32-36*

The time of the Gentiles.

When there was no king in Israel. It is an image of the history of Gentile rule, history in the making, a prophecy of all history till the last days.

A soldier once stood beside a comrade while a bullet came in and blew off a large portion of his skull. . . he stood, screaming, writhing in pain. Nothing could be done but to pray for death. Man is a man of war from his youth.
One human will injure, maim, disfigure, and brutally kill another man. . . on purpose. It is war.

The dream is not only the result and progression of war, but of the most vicious sort. The collapse of global empires, a massive destabilization of the geopolitical world, at the behest him, “whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his

"This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king. Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory. And wheresoever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold. And after thee shall arise another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth. And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise. And whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with miry clay. And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken. And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay. And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever. Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure."

-Daniel 2:36-45

Nebuchadnezzar and his kingdom of Babylon, "Thou art this head of gold." Nebuchadnezzar would brutally lay siege to Jerusalem till the "women sodden their children," then ravage the nation in waves taking captives and butchering at his will. He will extinguish the light of the theocracy down to a flicker that will last for thousands of years; a proclamation of Ichabod. His rule will be brutal, his realm global. God has given into his hand... Dominion. But it will not stand. "After thee shall arise another nation inferior to thee." Interestingly an "inferior" nation will conquer Babylon. One that is described, and foretold as a "ram" having "two horns are the kings of Media and Persia." (See Daniel 8:20.)

"And another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth." The Persian empire shall be conquered by one that is described as a "rough goat is the king of Grecia," Alexander the Great.

And then "A fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron." The Roman empire. Vicious and tactical, one that will be involved with "mystery," and will "bruise," and will be a "mother" for she will have offspring: "feet and toes, part of potter's clay, and part of iron."

Be advised, the kingdoms that conquer are "inferior" to the prior nation.

The metals as the timeline progresses become inferior, less in precious metal, less in value yet, increase in strength. The form of government decreases in quality. God deems a monarchy higher in quality to that of a "democracy." A declension from monarchy to oligarchy to a senate. This may be misunderstood from a perspective of "We the people." But God is a king. In fact Jesus Christ is the King of kings. Absolute monarchy is choice. The other forms of government allow multi-people to govern, and the heart of man "is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked, who can know it?" Without the divine help to self govern, corruption and evil will always (s)elect a tyrant of the evil one. In 2020 the U.S. Presidential election was rigged, stolen, and an evil tyrannical, globalist government installed. Some would suggest Donald J. Trump was an anomaly, but possibly unbeknownst to him, he was more of a Cyrus, a man used of God, a man of the people, of liberty and freedom, and not in the line of antichrist globalists. And at a closer look, elections have been rigged in the United States and around the world for decades and with a long term diabolical goal.

But there is another King coming. "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom... forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands." A king of divine origin. The Emanuel, God with us, Jesus Christ will return in power and glory to "break in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold," and set up His kingdom.

Special notice must be given to the "Mystery" of the kingdom of iron. A "seed" that mingles with men is likely a preview of open borders, the erosion of individual nationalities (one speech). It very well may also have hints of the “giants” of Genesis 6. The Roman Empire that made great advances toward liberty, fell to corruption by the hands of wicked men at the desperate influence of Satan. They would “bruise,” crucify, Jesus Christ. Rome was deemed as “Babylon.” (See Peter 1:5-13.) Mystery Babylon the Harlot would have offspring and continue via “toes,” part iron and part clay. A combination of strength, yet brittle and weak. Nations of deteriorating liberty, lasting till the return of Jesus Christ, at which time the times of the Gentiles will come to an end, and the Davidic covenant will be fulfilled.

“The great God hath made known unto the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure.”

-Daniel 2:45

Long live the King.
